A view from the top: Lessons in Leadership from the C Suite

An important facet of leadership is developing other leaders. This includes being a coach, mentor, and advocate. This interactive workshop will energize leaders, specifically focusing on the competency to develop others, identifying high potential people, and supporting development planning.

You will enjoy insight from C-suite leaders who were interviewed to share their experiences when someone invested in them and how this was a catalyst for their professional growth and journey to the top. This session will take our Toastmasters tag line of “Where Leaders are Made” to a new level!

Learning Objectives

- Understanding the important leadership competency to develop other leaders
- How to identify high potential people
- Development planning
